Notes:

1. The portal "hotspot" will print the user's primary address, membership details and an option to add/change a profile photo. If the user is a non-member, the Membership area will show a Join option.

2. This area will allow users to change their contact settings on the fly; inline editing will be used so that users will not need to leave this screen.

3. This area will allow users to view their current demographic and searchable data. Each label will be linked to a detail screen allowing users to update their selections.

4. The utility navigation area will contain links to the most popular AILA systems that are not already accounted for in the main portal content area. As in #1, the Membership link will change depending on the user's current person type.

5. This area will list (A) the conferences a user is currently registered for, or (B) conferences that a user could register for.

6. This area will be the basic search for the Member Directory. Note that additional fields may be added and/or a "power search" will be implemented to allow users to search committees, boards, chapters, etc.

7. This area contains ad-hoc content, such as important announcements, AILF donation ads or other admin-defined content.

Notes:

1. This area is the entry point for attorneys joining online. It collects the email address for duplicate validation. If no duplicate is found, the user will proceed to Screen 2.1.

This area is also the entry point for students joining online. It collects the email address for duplicate validation. If no duplicate is found, the user will proceed to Screen 2.5.

This area is also the entry point for users who want to create a basic non-member account, whether for conference registration, or to access protected Infonet features. It collects the Person Type (government, non-member attorney, etc.) to trigger specific fields on Screen 2.6. It also collects the email address for duplicate validation. If no duplicate is found, the user will proceed to Screen 2.6.

2. This area is the entry point for non-authenticated users who wish to renew, or for existing non-members who wish to register for a conference.

Existing student members signing in will be checked for regular membership eligibility based on their anticipated graduation date. If the date on record is before the current date, students will "upgrade" their membership by proceeding to Screen 2.1.

Notes:

1. This screen collects (or updates) contact information for members who are joining for the first time.

“Number of Years Practicing” is used to calculate regular member dues (i.e. less than 3 years pays $295, or greater than 3 years pays $395).

2. Users who are reviewing their membership details as the result of their current session’s Join application will be presented with a link to return to Payment (i.e. the user was referred from Screen 4.1). For this use case, the link will be repeated on all non-transactional screens. This navigation also serves as a quick visual cue to let first-time applicants know what steps remain in the process.

In the case where a user was referred to the Join application from Screen 3.1, the navigation will vary; this concept of contextual navigation will be applied to all multi-screen processes.

Notes:

1. This area provides line item details of all products added during the user's session. Users may have added any number of "products" to arrive at this single point-of-payment. In the current system, user's are frequently obliged to make multiple credit card payments, depending on the number of services purchased; an overarching goal of the myAILA project is to make the transactional components friendlier and more intuitive to the end-user.

Each line item will be linked to the appropriate origin screen; for instance a line item for AILA Membership will allow the user to quickly navigate back to screens 2.1 – 2.4; an event registration will allow the user to review guests and special events on screen 3.2; an AILF Donation line item will allow the user to update the contribution defined on screen 4.0. An option to "Return to Checkout" will be presented on each of these screens.

2. This area prompts the user to enter the credit card details. The "What's this?" link is to provide popup information on the Card Verification Code.

In the current system, SSL entry/exit is handled in an inconsistent manner; end-users repeatedly see the "This page contains both secure and non-secure items" browser message. During development, steps will be taken to insure that the myAILA transaction screens handle this technical detail more elegantly.

Notes:

1. The member detail screen will provide an option to return to the search results listing, feature a user-defined photo (if available) and an option to export the entire profile listing to PDF.

2. The main content area of this screen will print the lawyer's name, email address, website, firm address. As in the "Immigration Lawyer Search" site, an option will also be provided to allow end-users to map the firm's address using

Google Maps. (Alternately, AILA may prefer to stick with the AOL MapQuest feature; either direction is fine.)

3. This area will highlight the lawyer's qualifications. It will list the member's AILA join date, law school and graduation year, bar admissions, types of cases handled and languages spoken.

Note that labels and verbiage on this screen will change if the end-user was referred from screen 6.0. Additionally, the profiled member's contact setting/info will vary per the requirements detailed in screen 6.0.

Notes:

1. Per the removal of Snippets in the Infrastructure Division requirements, members will be presented with a new interface for browsing other members who are flagged as Mentors in CAM. This screen will leverage code used in screens 5.1 and 5.2 for its results and detail views. In order to implement this screen, the following actions will be taken:

– AILA will provide a spreadsheet detailing the categories/subcategories for the mentor directory; the list can be nested up to 3 levels deep. This data will be a combination of the current Mentor Directory Affiliations in CAM (<http://cam.aila.org/sysadmin/affiliations/Default.aspx?palid=269>) and the top-level labels in Infonet (currently hard-coded, <http://www.aila.org/content/default.aspx?docid=1303>). Ultimately, the data will “live” under a new tab in CAM under System Admin, next to Affiliations, labeled “Mentor Directory”.

Technical Note: All data will be removed from its current location and added to a new parent/child table in CAM. A corresponding web service method will also be added.

– In CAM, the person record's Contact area will be moved to the Comm Prefs tab.

– On the Comm Prefs tab, 2 new top-level areas will be added below the Communication Preferences header: Member Directory Preferences and Mentor Directory Preferences. These areas will use the same interface as the current Contact area. All current Contact data from the Details tab will be applied to the Member Directory; the Mentor Directory will not be populated initially, but will contain the exact same options as the Member Directory.
